

A Rising Hollywood Star

Keep your eye out this summer for this young Latina actress! Alanna Ubach is on her way to a flourishing career in Hollywood. She has already performed alongside notable actors such as Danny DeVito, Whoopi Goldberg, and Rita Moreno. This summer she'll be on the big screens with Reese Witherspoon in "Legally Blonde 2: Red, White and Blonde." Ubach will reprise her role from the first "Legally Blonde" as Serena, the best friend of Witherspoon's character.

Aside from her roles in film, Ubach has done extensive television and theater work. This multi-talented young Latina, who is half Puerto Rican and half Mexican, has written scripts of her own as well as a one-woman show. Ubach has also participated in numerous independent films, including "A Mi Amor, Mi Dulce," which she recently finished directing.

Photo by Rodney Ray